

Rigiflex Ltd – the authority on the Jeanneau Rigiflex range

Jeanneau Group, the largest boat building group in Europe, has appointed Willow Marine – Rigiflex Boats as the England and Wales import dealer and distribution stockist to import, market and repair its Jeanneau Rigiflex range of Jeanneau Rigiflex–Newmatic rescue and safety boats, dinghies and Aquapeche workboats, as used by government authorities and lifeboats.

Rigiflex's Terry Quinn, known to many users as 'Terryflex', is available for advice on the availability and pricing of the Jeanneau Rigiflex range. Together with his UK based staff of factory trained technicians, Terry will advise on any modifications you require including how to repair any damage you may have inflicted on an older boat. By utilising this facility many boats are still in use after more than 30 years of service and hundreds of commercial, local authority and national government users can testify as to their durability. Terry Quinn has been a specialist in Jeanneau Rigiflex for more than 17 years and offers advice in model choice whether for sea rescue, a club safety boat, a canal or river workboat, or one of the many used for flood relief throughout England and Wales.

High strength and durability

Over 35 years ago Jeanneau added the construction of rescue and workboats at its yacht and motorboat factory in Les Herbiers. These were a unique design of polyethylene, constructed by rotational moulding techniques without joints or seams, giving extraordinary high strength and durability. Although others have apparent superficial similarities, the expensive moulds necessary to produce the high quality strength of Jeanneau boats has maintained an unrivalled place in the commercial market where buyers rightly demand value for money, strength and durability and the international backing of a truly worldwide company.

Safety work

Rigiflex Newmatic boats are RCD Category C certified for waves up to 2m high and these are used by HM armed forces, fire and rescue services, lifeboat rescue services, national and local government authorities and hundreds of RYA sailing clubs and centres. In fact current serial numbers over 75,000 – proof indeed that these durable, stable and fast craft are perfect for safety work.

Water rescue

Safety officers should look the homepage of the Rigiflex website (www.rigiflexboats.co.uk) where they can find a link to a 90 second video produced by Royal Yachting Association Sailability to see how easy a disabled body can be recovered into a Rigiflex rescue boat.

Emergency hire

Rigiflex boats are available for emergency hire to commercial users and governmental bodies.
